POETRY.

ALL TIPSY BUT ME. FROM THE GERMAN.

Out of the tavern I've just stepped to-night; Street! you are caught in a very bad plight; Right hand and left hand are all out of place; Street you are drunk; 'tis a very clear case.

Moon, 'tis a very queer figure you cut; One eye is staring while tother is shut; Tipsy, I see, and you are greatly to blame; Od as you are, 'tis a horrible shame.

Then the street lamps-what a scandalous None of them soberly standing upright; Rocking and staggering—why, on my wor Each of the lamps is as drunk as a lord.

All is confusion; now, isn't it odd? Nothing is sober that I see abriad; Sure it were rash with this crew to remain, Better go into the tavern again.

YOU AND I.

You are going up the hill,
I am going down;
Hesps of gold your coffers fill,
I have not a crown;
But what of that ho man can say— To-morrow shall be as To-day.

Once near the summit did I stand, Once near the summer in 1.

And you as near the base;
The change is small,—you are in mine,
And I am in your place;
So goes the world, for none can say—
The morrow shall be as To-day.

QUILLUS.

OUR OLIO.

"Lively and gossiping,
Stored with the treasures of the ta thing world,
And with a spice of mirth, too,"

The importance of privacy as a secret of mitrimonial happiness, is thus beautifully described :

Preserve the privacies of your house, marriage state, heart, from father, mother, sister, brother, aunt, and all the world. You two, with God's help, build your own quiet world : every third or fourth one whom you draw into it with you, will form a party, and stand between you two. That should never be. prices, ail. Promise this to each other. You will find your account in it. Your souls will grow, as it were, together, and at last they will become as one. Ah, if many a young pair had on their wedding day known this secret, how many marriages were happier than, alas! they are.

"To the Selectmen of the town of Woburn.—We the undersigned, inhabitants of Woburn, believing that public convenience and necessity requires another avenue connecting Warren and Main streets, said street to commence somewhere between the Warren Academy and the Boarding house, then running northeasterly and passing through the lands of the Trustees of the Warren Academy. Abijah Thompson and the heirs of the late Dr. Augustus Plympton to some point on Main street, nearly opposite the coal yard, we do respectfully request that you view and lay out a street as prayed for above.

A. H. Nelson,
Chas. Choate,

deceased, from thence the line rans south 69° west over said Thompson land 445 feet, to the land of the Trustees of the Warren Academy, thence, continuing same course, over said Trustees land 343 feet, to a stake at the east-Trustees land 343 feet, to a stake at the easterly side of Warren street. Said road is to lie on the left hand or southerly side of said line, and is to be forty feet wide throughout its whole length. And we award to the heirs of said Augustus Plympton the sum of one hundred dollars to be paid by the town of Woburn at the opening of said road, as full damages for laying out said road over their land, and the said Abijah Thompson and the said Trustees released all damages for laying said road over their land; and we allowed the several owners of the land taken for said road, nnerty days to take off the trees and fences standing thereon.

fences standing thereon.

And we estimate the expense of making said road, two hundred and twenty-five dollars. Said road is hereby reported to the town for their acceptance, and when accepted and recorded is forever after to be known as a public town way.

Report of the Selectmen on the foregoing potition "COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

COUNTY OF MIDDLESEN.

On the petition of Hon. A. H. Nelson and others, we, the subscribers, Selectmen of the town of Woburn, in said county (having first notified all persons according to law) have laid out, for the use of said town, a town way as follows, to viz:—beginning at a stake on the westerly side of Main street, twenty-one and one-half feet northerly from the dividing line between the lands of Gen Abijah Thompline between the lands of Gen. Abijsh Thompison and the heirs of Dr. Augustus Plympton, deceased, from thence the line runs south 69° west over said Thompson land 445 feet, to the land of the Trustees of the Warren Academy; thence, continuing same course, over said Trustees land 343 feet, to a stake at the easterly side of Warren street. Said road is to lie on the left hand or southerly side of said line, and is to be forty feet wide throughout its whole length. And we award to the heirs of said Augustus Plympton the sum of one hundred dollars to be paid by the town of Woburn at the opening of said road, as full damages for laying out said road over their aid road over their land; and we allowed the several owners of the land taken for said road, ninety days to take off the trees and fences standing thereon.

fences standing thereon.

And we estimate the expense of making said road, two hundred and twenty-five dollars. Said road is hereby reported to the town for their acceptance, and when accepted and recorded is forever after to be known as a public town way.

THE OLD WOMAN.

Gray haired and very old was she, With many a wrinkle where The rose and lily once had bloomed When life's young morn was there; And often from her dim old eyes, Methought there fell a tear Upon her knitting-work, that told Of memories fond and dear.

And oft her bosom heaved a sigh, As from the open door She watched the little ones at play, As she had played of yore. She knew full well that cares would come To spoil their castles fair, Their little hearts were building high,

For they were built in air. She had been young, and children dear She called her own, had crept Behind her chair to "hide and seek"-No wonder that she wept ; For they were dead, and these brought back The memory of their tone, And drew those tears to bathe the flowers In memory's garden sown.

POETRY.

THE WIND GOES WHISTLING ROUND THE SHOP,

The cold wind whistles around the shop
It whistles beneath the window pane
It whistles accross the window top—
But the coubler whistles a merrier strain, hile upper and sole go flipperty flip, And winds go whisting round the shop,

Lest his riches may suddenly put on wings, Lest his house may burn in the night when the wind Is high-but the shoemaker laughs, and

And whistes, and works with a flipperty flop,

O ye who shiver and shake, out doors,
Whose beards are frosty, but not with age,
Think of him who sits where the stove pipes

And laughs at the storm king's impotent rage,
While leather and last go flipperty flop,
And winds go whisting round the shop.

At home there's need of a hood, a frock.

At home there's need of a hood, a frock.
A book, a slate, or a christmar doil,
For the youngest and brightest of all the flock—
There's four or five of the flock in all,
For whom the leather goes flipperty flop,
While winds go whisting round the shop.

And in that home, a slice may be found For the harless one who happens along, W ile winter's snows are sifted around—
An I while the qobbier is willing and strong To make the hammer go flipperty flop,
And cold winds whistle around the shop.

O ye with noses and spirits blue!
And you who always repine at your lot;
Just call and see a philosopher true,
And learn to be glad for the good you've

And see the leather go flipperty flop,
And hear the whistling round the shop.

The thunders burst, the rains in torrents stream, As though in pain the drastic timbers groan, Whil'st thro' the darkness shoots the lightning's glean

And piercing shricks are borne upon the storm, And prayers tor aid. The lightning's vivid flash Reveals the vessel's shattered, sinking form

The seamen cling, and hope for aid at last; But now a plunge is heard! and all is still, Except the tumult of the driving blast.

The gallant ship has sunk ! its mournful dirge is chanted in the breaker's sullen roar.

Those prayers for aid, borne o'er the raging surge,
Are lost in death! and hushed forever more.

The storm has passed; the waves their fury ccase
The thunders roll, the lightnings flash no more,
And lovely nature smiles again in peace.

The Girl with the Calleo Dress. BY ROBERT BOSSELIN.

A fig for your upper-ten girls, With their velvets and satins and laces, Their diamonds and rubies and pearls, And their milliner figures and faces; They may shine at a party or ball, Emblazoned with half they possess, But give me, in place of them all, My girl with the calico dress.

She is plump as a partridge, and fair As the rose in its earliest bloom : Her teeth will with ivory compare And her breath with the clover perfume, Her step is as free and as light As the fawn's whom the hunters hard press, And her eye is as soft and as bright, My girl with the calico dress,

Your dandies and foplings may sneer At her simple and modest attire, But the charms she admits to appear Would set a who'e ice-berg on fire! She can dance, but never allows

The hugging, the squeeze and caress; She is saving it all for her spouse, My girl with the calico dress.

She is cheerful, warm-hearted and true, And kind to her father and mother; She studies how much she can do For her little sisters and brother. If you want a companion in life, To comfort, enliven and bless,

My girl with the ealico dress.

THE COMET.

As an expected Comet is new looked for anxion the following lines by O.W. Holmes, are quite apri The Con et! He is on his way, And singing as he flies; The whizzing planets shrink before The spectre of the skies; Ah! well may regal orbs burn blue, And satellites turn pale,

Ten million cubic miles of head, Ten billion leagues of tail!

On, on by whistling spheres of light, He flashes and he flames; He turns not to the left or right, He asks them not their names; One spurn from his demoniac heel,-Away, away they fly. Where darkness might be bottled up

And what would happen to the land, And how would look the sea. If in the bearded devil's path Our earth should chance to be? Full hot and high the sea would boil, Full red the forest gleam ; Methought I saw and heard it all In a dyspeptic dream.

And sold for 'Tyrian dye.'

I saw a tutor take his tube The Comet's course to spy; I heard a scream—the gathered rays Had stewed the tutor's eye; I saw a fort-the soldiers all Were armed with goggles green; Pop cracked the guns! whiz flew the balls! Bang went the magazine.

I saw a poet dip a scrawl Each moment in a tub, I read upon the wrapping back, 'The dream of Beelzebub;' He could not see his verses burr, Although his brain was fired, And ever and anon he bent To wet them as they dried.

I saw the scalding pitch roll down The crackling, sweating pines, And streams of smoke, like water-spouts, Burst through the rumbling mines; I asked the firemen why they made Such noise about the town; They answered not but all the while The brakes went up and down.

I saw a roasted pullet sit Upon a baking egg; I saw a cripple seorch his hand Extinguishing his leg;
I saw nine geese upon the wing

Towards the frozen pole, And every mother's gosling fell Crisped to a crackling coal.

I saw the ox that browsed the grass Writhe in the blistering rays, The herbage in his shrinking jaws Was all a fiery blaze; I saw huge fishes boiled to rags,

Bob through the bubbling brine; And thoughts of supper crossed my mind; I had been rash in mine.

Strange sights! strange sounds! oh fearful dream! Its memory haunts me still,

The steaming sea, the crimson glare That wreathed each wooded hill; Stranger! If through thy realing brain Such midnight visions sweep, Spare, spare, oh spare thine evening meal, And sweet shall be thy sleep!

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

The sciences of Chemistry and Medicine have been taxed their utmost to produce this best, most perfect purgative which is known to man. Innumerable proofs are shown that these Pitts have virtues which surpass is excellence the ordinary medicines, and that they win unprecedentedly upon the estern of all men. They are used and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. Their pentrating properties stimulate the vital activities of the body, remove the obstructions of its organs, purify the blood, and expel disease. They purge out the foul humors which breed and grow distemper, stimulate sheggish or disordered organs into their natural action, and impart healthy tone with strength to the whole system. Not only do breed and grow distempts, dered organs into their natural action, and impair meaning the form of the whole system. Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also formidable and dangerous diseases that have ballfed the best of human skill. While they produce powerful effects, they are at the same time, in diminished doses, the safest and best physic that can be employed for children seeing singar-coated, they are pleasant to take; and being Being singar-coated, they are pleasant to take; and they are they not sub-effects, they are at the same time, in diminished doses, the safest and best physic that can be employed for children lesing sugar-coated, they are pleasant to take; and being purely vegetable, are free from any risk of harm. Curet have been made which surpass belief were they not substantiated by men of such exalted position and character as to forbut the suspicion of untruth. Many emines clergymen and physicians have lent their names to certify to the public the reliability of my remedies, while others have sent me the assurance of their conviction that my Preparations contribute immensely to the relief of my afflicted, suffering fellow-men.

The Agent below manued is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing directions for their use and certificates of their cures, of the following complaints: The Costiveness, Bilious Complaints, Rheumatism, Dropay, Heartburn, Headache arising from a foul Stomach, Santasan, Lingesten, Flatisheney, Loss of Appetito, all Ulcerons and Cutaneous Diseases which require an evacuant Medicine, Serofula or King's Evil. They also, by purifying the blood and stimutating the system, cure many complaints which it would not be supposed they could reach, such as Deafness, Partial Bilindness, Neuralgia and Nerrous Irritability, Derangements of the Liver and Kidneys, Goutt, and other kindrel complaints arising from a low state of the body or obstruction of its functions. Do not be put off by unprincipled deather with some other pill they make more profit on. Ask for Avens Pills, and take nothing else. No other they can give you compare with this in its intrinsie value or curative powers. The sick want the best aid there is for them, and they should have it.

POETRY.

THE LITTE "TRUNDLE-BED."

BY DR. A. HILL.

And close by the side of our bed, This precious little bundle.
Every night is laid,
Smiling so sweet that it sometimes seems,
Good angels must talk to the child in her dreams.

And often we come and kneel,
Where our little treasure lies,
And prayers such as parents feel,
We send up to the skies;
For we hear of death, and we come to dread
The loss of our child from her trundle bed.

Affection hath reared her shrine, By the lowliest things of earth,
And the holiest reelings entwine
'Round the spot that gave us birth;
Thus we love the place where our baby sleeps.
And affection her nightly vigil keeps.

"Tis a plain, old fashioned thing,
That fulle baby bed,
Where love her afforings bring,
And angels lightly treat;
Yet a chord may be touched by the merest toy.
That shall deluge the heart with a tide of joy

We love it, and who shall dare,
These holy feelings deride,
Like that precious "Old Arm Chair,"
And a thousand things beside;
So whether our child be living or dead,
A dear little thing is that trundle bed.

But that fell for a moment across the sunhis of your rath and they received. though their daughter repaid their attention with the sweetest gratitude, and obeyed them with the gentlest docility, she showed no interest in the passing seenes. And though everywhere her extreme beauty and sweetness of disposition, not less than her fortune and position, drew around her many friends and admirers, Estelle remained alone in her isolated thoughts and feelings.—

me, you will not hesitate to give me case, and the result of their wisdom was a decision that this melancholy was not the effect of ill health, still less of seret sorrow, but that it was a constitutional phase that would probably pass away with maturing years.

They retarned to England, presented their daughter at court, and introduced her into all the gaieties of fashionable life. But with no happy effect upon the spirits of Estelle, who remained profoundly unmoved amid the eclat that greeted her debut. Her picturesque beauty was the theme of all stone magnetic; all felt her power, yet she who could move all others, remained unimpressed. She who sought no conquests, for that very reason perhaps, made many. A peer and two commoners, in succession, laid their fortunes at her feet, and were in turn kindly and tirmly rejected.

So passed her first season in London, at the close of which her parents took her down to their seat in Devonshire. Here, in her thoughful, quiet, unostentatious manner, she engaged in work of benevolence among the villagers and tenantry. And her father, hoping much from this employment, gave her full liberty of action, and smiled to see that she seemed less pensive than before.

At the beginning of the parlimentary term, the family went up to London.

spend it anyhow, and consented.
She called a cab, and in a short time we were in Vauxhall. I pulled out my purse to pay the driver, when she said. "Never mind, sir, I have plenty; besides, I invited you here, and therefore I bear all of the expense."

I was astonished, for I never doubted but that my money was the princi-pal attraction, and I was puzzled to think what could be her bject. ordering refreshments, of which she ate and drank very little, but which she insisted on paying for, we strolled around the garden, listening to the music, until towards evening, when I remarked it would be best to return.

The rector of St. Bardolph's what tired by my adventure, walked to the bed and drew aside the curtains, and there lay a man weltering in his describing the singing of the following blood, with his throat cut from ear to ear

I immediately dressed myself, with a presence of mind which I have never been able to account for. I then tried the door, which, to my horror, was locked. Glancing around the room my eye fell upon the irons in the fire-place. I snatched one up, and with one stroke broke the lock and opened the door .-Running down the stairs, I found the front door locked also. Having no-thing to break the lock with, I darted Having nointo the first room I came to, and jumped from the window into the alley the side of the house, and had scarcely time to conceal myself, when I heard the people around crying murder, and saw the very woman I came with, followed by several of the police, enter the house, thinking, I suppose, of course she would find me. I left as soon as the crowd gathered round, and passed unnoticed.

The next morning I was reading paper, and almost the first thing which attracted my attention was a notice of a bloody murder in — street, with a reward of fifty pounds for the apprehension of the murderer. It went further, and in the description of supposed person, described me better than I could myself—even to the manthe music, but that his sympathies were so much excited for poor Aaron, that to the docks, and, a barque being a left! WHISTLING. - The man who don't WHISTLING. — The man who don't believe in whistling, should go a step further, and put a muzzle on bobolinks and mocking birds. Whistling is a great institution. It oils the wheels of great institution. It oils the wheels of suncare, and supplies the place of sun-shine. A man who whistles has a good heart under his shirt front. Such a man not only works more than any ly. A whistling cobbler will earn as who gives way to low spirits and indigestion. Mean or avaricious men nev-er whistle. Who ever heard of a whistler among the sharp practitioners of Wall street? We pause for an answer. The man who attacks whistling, throws a stone at the head of hilarity. 2.5 Ct. WELL SAID .- A class of girls, varying in age, from eight to twelve years, were engaged in reading the thirteenth of Luke. In the course of the questioning, they were asked, 'What is parable? 'A story teaching heavenly truth,' was the reply. After a few simple questions upon the story of the barren fig-tree, the inquiry was made. 'Now what is the heavenly truth we are here taught?' The answer was readily given, 'That God looks for fruit on us And what is the fruit for which he looks?' was naturally the next ques-tion; but the ready and beautiful ap lication of Scripture was scarely expect rose, and without a moment's hesitais love, joy, peace, long-suffering gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, tem-

ALMOST A SUICIDE.—Here are a wyorses which have been taken from few verses which have been taken from an old scrap book, and should be read, by all who contemplate committing suicide. We would advise all such to read them, and then do likewisechange their minds :

POETRY.

A Plea for our Physical Life.

BY CHARLES MACKAY.

We do our nature wrong, Neglecting over long The bodily loys that help to make us wise; The ramble up the slope Of the high mountain cope,
The long day's walk, the vigorous exercise
The fresh, luxurious bath Far from the trodden path;
Or, 'mid the ocean waves dashing with harn
Lifting us off our feet upon the sandy shore.

Kind Heaven ! there is no end Of pleasures, as we wend Our pilgrimage in life's undevious way, If we but knew the laws Of the Eternal Cause,
And for His glory and our good obey;
But intellectual pride
Sets halt these joys aside,
And our perennial care absorbs the soul so much,
That life grows cold and dim beneath its deadeni

Welcome, ye plump green meads, Ye streams and sighing reeds! Welcome, ye corn fields, waving like a sea! Welcome, the leaty howers, And children gathering flowers! And farowell, for a while, sage drudgery! What though we're growing old .-Come with me to the fields, thou man of mary ills

And give thy limbs a chance among the daffodils !

Come with me to the woods
And let their solitudes
Re-echo to our voices, as we go!
Upon the merry brain,
Letchildhood come again.
Spite of thy wealth, thy learning, or thy woe! Stretch forth thy limbs, and leap,-

Thy life has been asleep; And, though the wrinkles deep may furrow thy pale

A NAME IN THE SAND

Alone I walked the ocean strand : A pearly shell was in my hand ; I stooped, and wrote upon the sand My name-the year-the day, As onward from the spot I passed, One lingering look behind I cast; A wave came rolling high and fast, And washed my lines away.

And so, methought, 'twill shortly be With every mark on earth from me ! A wave of dark oblivion's sea

Will sweep accross the place Where I have trod the sandy shore Of time, and been to be no more; Of me, -my day, the name I bore, To leave nor track nor trace.

And yet, with Him who counts the sands, And holds the waters in his hands, I know a last ng record stands.

Inscribed against my name,-Of all this mortal part has wrought,-Of all this thinking soul has thought, And from these fleeting moments caught For glory and for shame !

She wears a piece of gold around ber neck, and if Webster Bank Building, Exchange St. the gold is not watched, the string will twist to suffication. She thinks if the gold was removed, she would die intwist to suffication. She thinks if the gold was removed, she would die instantly; on one occasion, it was removed while she was asteep, and immediately there were signs of strangulation. Another remarkable feature connected with her case is this:—cut off a piece of her hair and throw it into the fire, and she will show evident signs of pain, or uneasiness by sereaming. Her hair has been burnthalf a mile distant, and the very instant of burning, she manifested the same sign of pain. Another strange feature of the individual whom she believes to be the cause of her sufferings, is drawn upon paper, and shot at with lead, it makes no impression upon her, but present a gun loaded with silver, and she is thrown into spasms—fire and she is thrown into spasms—fire and strange case, and we hope to here more from it.—Grenala (Miss.) Republican.

Mer Mascharth, Pa., Feb. 4, 1856.

Sir: Your Cherry Percoal, is performing marvellous cures in this section. It has relieved several from alarm in symptoms of consumption, and is more curing a man who has labored under an affection of the lungs for the last forty gears. IENEV L. PARKS, Merchant, A. A. RAMSKY, M. D., Aldinos, Monnos Co., Iowa, writes, Sept. 6, 1886; "During my practice of many years! In ave found nothing equal to your Cherry Percoal, for giving case and relief to consumptive patients, or curing such as are curable."

We might add volumes of evidence, but the most convincing proof of the virtues of this remedy is found in its effects upon trial.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

This sciences of Chemistry and Medicine have been taxed their utmost to produce this best, most perfect purgative which is known to man. Innumerable proofs are shown that these Pills have virtues which surpass in excellence the ordinary medicines, and that they are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. Their penetrating properties stimulate the vital activities of the body, and expel disease. They purge out the foul humors which breed and grow distemper, stimulate chugish or disordered organs into their natural action, and impart healthy tone with strength to the whole system. Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but they are at the same time, in diminished doses, the safet and best physic that can be employed for children being sugar-coated, they are pleasant to take; and being purely vegetable, are free from any risk of harm. Cure have been made which surpass belief were they not substantiated by men of such exalted position and character as to forbid the suspicion of untruth. Many eminencerymen and physician have leat their names to cettly to the public the reliability of my remedies, while others have sent me the assurance of their conviction that ever have been time the assurance of their conviction that

This difference between the customs of Georgia and Virginia, so far as it exists, may be attributed to the fact that the slaves here are 'whiter,' have better minds, naturally; hence, do not need so much learning! Moreover, some say, that, if they are taught to read, they get clearer ideas of their natural rights, and a smattering of 'geography'—especially, the points of the compass; in other words, that they become saucy and quit.

From the Southbridge Press. LINES To the Rev. William C. Whitcomb, in view of his departure from Globe

Village, Mass. Farewell, shepherd of the Lord, Teacher from His precious word— Of its power, its purity,— Hearts are sad to part with thee; Earnestly thy life dost prove Thee a man of Peace and Love.

Faithful to thy earth-work given-Winning souls to God and Heaven; May the work that thou hast done, Many a star of light have won, Stars that God will show to thee, When He sets thy spirit free.

To those who scorned the Son of God, Refused to walk the path He trod, Lovers of pleasure and of sin -Faithful hath thy warning been Of the distant, dreaded day When the earth shall pass away.

When life's scenes were almost o'er, And wearied feet pressed the dim shore, Thou wert there with words of Love-Telling of the home above. And of Him who died to save,

And redeem us from the grave. When some cherished form was hid 'Neath the mouraful coffin lid-And our hearts with grief were filled, Thy kind words the storm has stilled, Words that live in memory yet,

Words we never can forget.

Yea, a hush so deep—breathless and terror-stricken,
That the lip blavched in its trance.

There burst a shuddering sob
As if the bosom by some hidden sword

OBITUARY.

Died, in Winchester, May 30, Mrs. Char-tte Hovey, wife of Mr. Josiah Hovey.

One standing outside the charmed circle, of which Mrs. Hovey was the life and joy, would fain pay a tribute to her memory and offer a word of sympathy to those whom she has left "bereft and lonely." Her rich, vigorous intellect, cultivated taste, and affections ate, genial nature, made her the life of home, and the "bright particular star" of every family gathering ; and a deep fountain of happiness was closed to her friends when "Azrael" the angel of death beckoned her away. She was called in the full glow of health, in the summer of her days, just at the time when hope pointed to a tuture rich with happiness, and in th t hope she will not be disappointed, for however bright and useful might have been her future here, "Eye hath not seen, not ear heard, neither hath entered into the heart of man," the completeness of her future in that freer, better land. Still eyes must weep that the tender voice is removed, and that the vanished hand cannot be clasped; and hearts must yearn to more fully see and participate in her great gain. "Jesus wept." But "I am the Resurrection and the Life" could shine through those tears, and lay a rainbow of promise on the dark clouds of grief.

A week has passed away since my last, and other, a young man in the prime of life, Mr. Henry Kingman, and the first, of a large family of children, that have died. He has long een a great sufferer in what was supposed to be consumption, but proved to be scrofula in the stomach. Yet, calmly did he wait his appointed hour, when Jesus, with his angels, should bear his spirit up to dwell with saints in its heavenly home; for surely if there was ever a good man, he was one. While death roams round, plucking this and that rose from the rose-bud of life, still new buds are con-tinually emanating from the stalk, to fill the vacancy thus so ruthlessly made. And during the past week one of our townsmen has had the extreme pleasure of seeing his sixteenth bud, a lovely child. Who beats that?

The alarm of fire on Friday evening, at 10 o'clock, was caused by hay, belonging to and over the wood-shed of the Boston and Maine Railroad, taking fire, probably from sparks ignited from the engine. MY MOTHER'S SMILE.

The rosy blush has left her cheek. Her voice is soft and low, Her step is trembling now and weak, Her locks are like the snow. The mild blue eye no longer beams With light as once erewhile. Yet sweeter than an angel's seems My gentle mother's smile.

Though wrinkled now, I love to dwell Upon her thoughtful face, Where lingers more than Beauty's spell, Or blush of youthful grace; For there Affection ever gleams, And love that knows no guile, And brighter than an angel's seems My dearest mother's smile.

When far away-and thoughts of home Fill all my dreams at night, And mid bright angel-throng I roam, I see her form of light, The first to come and last to go, And tairest all the while-It greets me with a heavenly glow, My tender mother's smile.

On earth its light shall cheer my way, And sweeten all my care, And when death comes, its purer ray Shall beam around me there. And as I yield this mortal state, This thought shall still beguile, Twill be so sweet at Heaven's gate, To meet my mother's smile.

OUR OLIO.

Stored with the treasures of the tattling world, And with a spice of mirth, too."

SINGULAR ANECDOTE.

It is recorded of the Marshall Luxembourg, that he took a lady to the house of a celebrated Parisian artist, printer said when a remittanes came in order to give her an opportunity of seeing the likeness of the marshal, and also sit for her own. When, however, she saw the portrait, she declared she had never seen any person like it. The marshal knew that this was mere prejudice, and persuaded her to go once again to the painter's house, after the last setting, assuring her that if she should not then be perfectly satisfied, he would cease his importunities. He had contrived, with the assistance of the painter, to thrust his own face through a canvass hung where the picture had before been placed. But she, on perceiving it, persisted in asserting that it was no more like him than before. Upon this the marshal could not keep his countenance, but, by laughing aloud, discovered at once his stratagem and her obstinacy .- Notes and Queries.

THE LOWER CLASSES. - Who are they? The toiling millions, the laboring men and women, the farmer, the mechanic, the artisan, the inventor, the producer? Far from it. These are nature's nobility. No matter if high or low in station, rich or poor in pelf, $1200 they are upper circles in the order of nature whatever the fictitious distinc- $1500 tions of society, fashionable or unfashionable decree. It is not low, it is a $1800 higher duty, privilege and pleasure for the great man and high-souled woman to earn . what they possess, to be the architects of their own fortunes. Some may rank the classes alluded to as only relatively low, in fact the middling classes. We insist they are absolutely the very highest. If there be a class of human beings on earth who may be properly denominated low, it is the be properly denominated low, it is the class who spend without earning, who consume without producing, who dissipate on the earnings of their fathers sipate on the earnings of their fathers us to or relatives, without being anything o themselves.

The Rochester Times says: "We could never understand the reason why will re the man who sells a yard of cloth, or a 5000 Agents wanted Immediately, hoe, or an axe, or a pair of shoes, is regarded by the community as better regarded by the community as better or more respectable than he who made them—nor he who sells a barrel of flour or ships it off to another the most sell of th flour or ships it off to another

That woman is not deserving of a husband's generous love, who will not welcome him with cheerful smiles as he returns wearied and worn from the labors and cares of the day; who will not try to chain him to his home by the sweet enchantment of a cheerful heart. There is not one in a thousand to unfeeling so lost to loving-kindness.
